Excerpt from Wildlife in North Carolina, Vol. 48: January 1984

Although funds from this year's tax refund checkoff won't become available until next summer, a full-time nongame wildlife program has already been put in place using seed money from general wildlife funds. Much of this seed money is being used to promote the program. The nongame program is housed in the Commission's Division of Wildlife Management, and has its own budget.
